Subscriptions: One Year, $4; One Month, 25 cts; Single Copy, 1 cent.

Members of the Publishers' Press.—The latest telegraphic news from all parts of the world are received by the Daily Times up to the hour of going to press.

Frank E. Langley, Publisher.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1905.

The average daily circulation of the Barre Daily Times for the week ending Saturday was copies, the largest paid circulation of any daily paper in this section.

3,808

It is said in New York that Murphy is not so big a potato after all.

"Man never is but always to be blest"; a Rutland man thinks he will be a very rich man through a Vermont gold mine.

And the time-keeper in this fatal fight at the naval academy was a Vermontier! And from that peaceful town of St. Johnsbury, too!

The next governor of Massachusetts is such that it was said prior to the election that Draper was tacked to his ticket as a balance wheel.

It is interesting to note that while some of their agents are paddling along on $11 per, some of the presidents of the big insurance companies have had their salaries increased six-fold, yea, even to the $100,000 mark.

Perhaps it is not for us to judge, but we should coincide with the view of the Rutland News in that the candidates for Judge Starr's position would have appeared in a better light by laying low until after the state had paid its respects to the deceased.

SNATCHING AT MONTPELIER'S BLUE RIBBONS.

It seems that someone has been making overtures to Montpelier to help pay the bills of the recent Centennial celebration, the offer having no doubt been made through an honest purpose and no flim-flam. Whoever made the overture was probably pricked in the conscience over the failure of the state to furnish funds for what was in large measure a state celebration and wished to make tardy amends. But Montpelier is jealous of that Centennial. The affair was a grand success and the city does not now care to have any of the laurels of it swept away through the interference of the state or individuals. At least one would infer that from the sentiments expressed at a meeting of the city fathers the other evening. The newspaper reports say that Attorney John H. Senter "vigorously expressed" his sentiments (and you know how vigorously John can express his ideas) that Montpelier should front upon any plan for the legislature to reimburse Montpelier for the expenses of the day; Montpelier had secured a bargain, and didn't want her money back; it was a glorious occasion and well worth the cost even if "some 14-cent taxpayers" were to the contrary. And Mayor Corry backed up John in language not so vehement, but still vehement enough to allow of no doubt. Really, this ought to settle all attempts to snatch any of the blue ribbons from the capital city. The triumph of the Centennial was well-earned, and perhaps it would be presumptuous on the part of the state to now attempt to pay the costs. Let Montpelier enjoy the full fruits without molestation.

BOSTON'S "JEROME."

In one respect there was a close analogy between the recent elections in New York and Massachusetts. In the latter state there appeared as a candidate for district attorney in Suffolk county a man who styled himself a "Jerome," John B. Moran by name; and insofar as the election results show it must be admitted that he lived up to the name. Mr. Moran instituted his campaign with as flimsy a support as his illustrious exemplar had in New York county. He was opposed by a man, Mr. Sughrue, who, by the way, had both the Republican and the Democratic support so far as pledged support goes. But Mr. Sughrue's apparent strength was really a weakness. Relying on the endorsement of the two most prominent parties in the contest, he sat down in his political easy chair and waited to be elected. And there is where he made a fatal mistake. While he rested, his ambitious rival worked. Few people thought that Mr. Moran had any chance of election, and even up to the eve of the election his candidacy was more or less scoffed at. The Republican-Democratic candidate was sleeping while Moran was telling the voters that they needed a Jerome in Massachusetts, and volunteering his services to be that man. The voters took Moran at his word and cast enough ballots to elect him as district attorney. Now that the man has shown himself to be a real "Jerome," at the polls there is left for this Massachusetts initiator an even better opportunity to show that the forceful example of the New York district attorney has made a distinct impression upon him. That opportunity will lie in carrying out the promise which Mr. Moran made in his pre-election speaking.

SET ASIDE $50,000.

To Be Spent in Missionary Work in Four Countries.

New York, Nov. 10.—The general mission committee of the Methodist Episcopal church now in session in Brooklyn, and charged with the duty of making appropriations for the coming year for all the domestic and foreign missions of the denomination, spent yesterday in beginning the consideration of domestic missions.

Dr. James M. Buckley, editor of the Christian Advocate, New York, Dr. E. M. Taylor of Cambridge, Mass., and Dr. E. P. Stevens of Albany, N. Y., spoke on the rapidly increasing percentage of foreign speaking people in New England. Bishop Cyrus D. Foss of Philadelphia and Dr. George B. Smyth of San Francisco pleaded for a larger work among immigrants.

Debates upon the detailed appropriations were then in order, a total amount of $50,000 being set aside during the afternoon for Welsh, Swedish, Norwegian and Danish work, with appropriations for work in the last two languages yet to be completed.

MISSIONARY CONVENTION.

Opened at Bradford Last Evening With a Praise Service.

Bradford, Nov. 10.—The 21st annual meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary society of the Vermont conference of the Methodist Episcopal church opened here last evening with a praise service at 7.15 o'clock. At 7.30 a devotion at service was conducted by the Rev. H. J. Kilbourne, pastor of the Congregational church of Bradford. The state president of the society, Mrs. A. H. Webb of Brattleboro, gave the greeting of the society and the reports of the corresponding secretary and treasurer were read. A report of the national meeting was given by Miss Farnum.

The main address of the meeting, on "Woman at the Threshold of the Twentieth Century," was delivered by Mrs. H. N. Turner of St. Johnsbury.

AN IMPORTANT CASE.

Says Commissioner Prouty in Standard Oil Case.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 10.—At the conclusion of the hearing of the case of the Cleveland and Pittsburg firms charging rate discrimination in favor of the Standard Oil company on the part of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, Commissioner C. A. Prouty said that the case is of such importance that it will be heard before the whole commission and that the entire proceeding will have to be presented in printed form. The case will be taken up by the commission at Washington.

E. C. Buckland, general attorney for the road, stated that he wished to have it definitely understood that Wm. Rockefeller holds less than one per cent of the stock of the company and that he is one of twenty-one directors; also that absolutely no Standard Oil interests controls the New Haven road.

"GREAT OAKS FROM LITTLE ACORNS GROW."

"In saving money many persons say they can save so little that it is not worth while to save at all. If you can save but little you ought to be the more anxious to save, and if you persevere you will presently be surprised at the amount of your savings. Many a millionaire has said that the first thousand dollars was the hardest part of his fortune to get. You are not likely to be millionaires, but it is possible for many of you who are not doing so to save very considerable amounts, which, if safely invested, will work for you day and night, and will add to your comfort, your self-respect, and especially give you the feeling of security against illness or loss of position."

Out for Gore.

"I saw Hawker rushing around the yard in his shirt-sleeves flourishing an axe."

"Yes and he says blood will be spilled before night."

"Great Scott! Is he going to butcher some one?"

"No. The cook has left and he is going to make an attempt to kill his first chicken."—Chicago News

THEY ELOPED.

Did New Hampshire Couple, the Bride Being 17.

Tamworth, N. H., Nov. 10.—Nellie Wiggin of this town, aged 17, was secretly married to Henry A. Merriam, aged 21, of Lawrence, Mass., by the Rev. George E. Lovejoy, pastor of the South Congregational church at that place. The ceremony was performed about a month ago, but the affair has just become public.

It is said that the young people became acquainted about a year ago and that they had planned to wed secretly, owing to parental opposition. The license was taken out at Lawrence, May 29, and kept until the opportune time, when the girl's father was in Tamworth and the mother in Boston.

The girl had started for Lawrence, accompanied by her mother as far as Rochester, where they separated, it being understood that the daughter should go to Lawrence and remain with friends until her mother's return from a business trip to Boston, when they were to meet at Rochester and return to Tamworth together. Upon the appointed day she did not appear, and Mrs. Wiggin returned to Lawrence, where she found that her daughter was married to Merriam.

DISCHARGED BECAUSE MARRIED.

Vermonters in Naval Academy Was Married This Summer.

Annapolis, Nov. 10.—Rollo Carlisle Parmer of Charlotte, Vt., has been dismissed from the Naval Academy for marrying while on leave this summer. He offered his resignation, which was rejected as he had committed a breach of the regulations, and he was dismissed by order of the secretary of the navy. He was a member of the second class and 22 years of age.

RIOTING SUPPRESSED.

NEW YORK LIFE CO.

DEMANDS INJUNCTION

Against Missouri State Insurance Superintendent Vandiver, Who Prohibited Company's Doing Business in State.

St. Louis, Nov. 10.—The New York Life Insurance company, through its attorneys, F. N. Judson and former Attorney General Crow, late yesterday afternoon applied to United States Circuit Judge Adams for an injunction to restrain State Insurance Superintendent Vandiver from enforcing his order prohibiting the company from carrying on further business in Missouri.

The application for an injunction was made following a long conference between the attorneys and Judge Adams in the latter's chamber in the federal building.

Both Messrs. Judson and Crow were reticent when asked concerning the conference. The application was favorably passed upon by Judge Adams, who issued a restraining order directing William D. Vandiver, state superintendent of insurance, to appear before the federal court in Jefferson City, November 20, to show cause why he should not be prevented from enforcing his order excluding the New York Life Insurance company from doing business in Missouri, and ordering that pending the hearing, November 20, the superintendent's order be not enforced.

The language of Judge Adams' order is that "no attempt in any manner be made to enforce the order."

The hearing at Jefferson City may be by any of the four circuit judges who have jurisdiction in the central district of Missouri.

AN OLD-TIME MERCHANT.

Charles D. Earl Died at East Middlebury Yesterday.

Middlebury, Nov. 10.—Charles D. Earl died at the home of Elijah LaBounty on the East Middlebury road, where he had been cared for for the past year or more. Mr. Earl was born in Burlington November 29, 1819. He came to Middlebury to live in 1840, when 21 years of age, and had made his home here ever since. Until a few years ago he was a very active man in the affairs of the town, and was for many years in the hardware business, first with Jackson Davenport, then as a partner in the firm of Earl & Barnum.

His wife, who was Catherine Olmstead of East Middlebury, died on October 23, 1903, aged 88 years, and since her death Mr. Earl has been steadily though slowly falling into the decline which finally has closed in death. There is one son, Charles W. Earl, for several years a traveling salesman, whose present whereabouts are unknown. Mr. Earl was for a great many years a member of Union Lodge of Masons of Middlebury, of which he was master in 1884. The funeral services will take place at the residence of Eliza LaBounty, where he died, at two o'clock Sunday afternoon and will be under Masonic auspices.

WILLIAM O. STICKNEY.

Northfield Man Died After Short Illness With Pneumonia.

Northfield, Nov. 10.—William O. Stickney died yesterday afternoon at the home of J. C. Donahue on Central street after an illness of only seven days, of pneumonia. Mr. Stickney was an old resident of this town for many years, living on a farm on West hill, which he recently sold and moved to the village. He was 69 years old and was born in Hooksett, N. H., 1839. Mr. Stickney enlisted in the 1st Vermont cavalry, Co. C, serving three years in the Civil War. He is survived by his two daughters, Mrs. Alice Winslow of Woodstock and Mrs. Nora Abbott of this village. The burial service will be held at the home of Fred Abbott on North Main street on Saturday, the Rev. E. W. Sharpe officiating.
